

The CW's Rock the Park Hawaii episodes to begin airing Saturday

Apr 15, 2015, 6:21am HST Updated: Apr 15, 2015, 12:10pm HST

The CW's Rock the Park, a 30-minute television show where hosts Jack Steward and Colton Smith visit America's most popular national parks, will air two episodes featuring Maui's Haleakala National Park and the Big Island's Hawaii Volcanoes National Park starting this Saturday.

The premier of the Hawaii episodes also happens to take place during National Park Week April 18-26.

The Hawaii Visitors and Convention Bureau, the Hawaii Tourism Authority's marketing contractor for North America, assisted with the production.

The Haleakala episode, airing April 18, features the hosts taking a zipline through mountain slopes, biking down from Haleakala's summit, hiking through a bamboo forest, paddleboarding in Hana Bay and visiting a bird sanctuary.

In the April 25 episode, the hosts travel to the Big Island and trek Mauna Loa at Hawaii Volcanoes National Park.

In Hawaii, the CW airs on Oceanic Time Warner Cable digital channel 93.

Jason Ubay
Reporter
Pacific Business News

COURTESY TREMENDOUS! ENTERTAINMENT

Jack Steward and Colton Smith, hosts of the CW's Rock the Park, prepare to bike down the side of the world's largest dormant volcano at Haleakala National Park on Maui.